COUNCIL ELECTS GRANT TO ASSIST COACH WYNNE

Birkett L. Pribble Retained as Freshman Mentor for Three Years

NEW LINE COACH HAS NOT BEEN OBTAINED

Appropriations Are Made for Tennis and Rifle Teams

By DELMAR ADAMS

Porter Grant was elected assistant football coach at the University by the Athletic council yesterday afternoon. Birkett Lee Pribble was reelected as freshman football coach for a period of three years and the budgets for varsity rifle team and tennis were approved at the meeting of the athletic body.

Grant, who has assisted Coach Chet Wynne for the past two seasons at Auburn, will coach the Cat ends next fall. He is a product of the Alabama school and was coached by Wynne. During his career as a player he seemed headed for all-Southern honors, when he was injured before the season was over. Much of the credit for the great team the Plainsmen had in 1932 is given to Grant by Wynne because of the former's fine work in develop-ing ends. An example of his prowess is Gump Arial, who was almost unanimous all-Southern in 1932 and was named on many all-American Grant was recommended to the council by Wynne and was given a contract for one year. A line coach to assist the head coach was not acted on at this time, and will be held open for a few days, pending the decision of Coach Wynne.

There is a fertile field for the new coach's labors here, as the Cats have only one veteran wingman returning in the person of "Smokey Joe" Rupert. A man to play the other flank must be found and a few steady reserves must be produced as Coach Pribble, who for the last few seasons has produced freshman teams that were far above the averyears, was given a new three-year contract by the council to take effect January 1. Pribble was a member of Wildcat teams in 1921-22-23, and one of the finest players ever produce at the University. When he finishes with a freshman player he is ready for the most exacting type of var-

TICKETS

Two tickets for each graduating senior for the baccalaureate services Sunday have been reserved at the Publicity bureau. They must be claimed before Saturday morning because they will be given out to the public at that time.

All ticket holders are required to be in Memorial hall Sunday afternoon before 2:55 o"clock for the baccalaureate services because the doors will be thrown open to the public at that time if there are any vacant seats.

BOARD ACCEPTS

Asking Trustees to Seek PWA Funds for Union Building Approved

PLANS WILL BE DRAWN

The executive committee of the board of trustees accepted the resolutions presented by representatives of Omicron Delta Kappa Wednesday, requesting University officials to seek a loan from the Federal government with which to finance the erection of the Student Union buliding.

Following the acceptance of the resolutions, presented by Gordon Burns and Walter Steitler, the council passed a motion requesting the student representatives to prepare a detailed statement showing the general plan of the building, the proposed cost, and the sources of income, such as will meet with the approval of the Public Works Administration.

When the statement is ready it will be submitted to the executive council of the board for consideration. If it is approved, it must be passed upon by the board of trustees before the request for the loan is filed with the Public Works Admin-

The statement which will be presented will probably provide for a request of $300,000 Federal loan and will include an architect's sketch of the proposed building, as well as the financial program which must be worked out in order to take care of the amortization and interest charges on the Federal loan.

Already several preliminary sketches have been submitted to the president for consideration. The new building will probably contain by members of the group on books a cafeteria lounging rooms, and of-fices for student organizations, and Haines' article, "My Religion," by bly a swimming pool, and other recreational rooms.

The statement will be prepared at once, in order that if it is accepted, the application for the loan may be made early within the next semester.

WILDCATS EXPECT STRONG OPPOSITION

Tennessee Aggregation Uses Professional Style of Floor Work

By MAX LANCASTER

Endeavoring to make it 17 straight wins, the Kentucky Wildcats will engage the University of Chattanooga Moccasins in the Alumni gymnasium Saturday night in what promises to be one of the hardest games of the season for the Ruppmen.

The Chattanooga club uses professional style of play, their coach having been a professional player. They are a fast group of basketeers, pass the ball with lightning speed, handle themselves like veterans, and, from all indications, will be a hard outfit for the Big Blue to handle.

Coach Rupp has spent nearly the entire week drilling his boys on passing, and Anderson, Lawrence, DeMoisey and Tucker have progressed nicely. Jerome and "Little Bill" Davis, despite their excellent floor work and basket shooting, have been showing up very poor on their passing and have room for a great deal of improvement. Should these two boys "come through" the Cats should stand a good chance to retain their Southeastern conference championship. "The boys have all been working hard this year and I believe we have a great year ahead of us,' stated Coach Rupp. "The most pleasing thing to me so far this season is the way Lawrence Tucker have improved. These two boys have really been playing ball and have improved with every game.

The probable starting lineup for the Wildcats tomorrow night will be DeMoisey at center, Lawrence and Jerome at forwards, and Anderson and "Little Bill" Dayls at guards. Lewis, Tucker, Potter and Settle probably will see action before the final whistle sounds

In a practice game Tuesday, in which DeMoisey, Davis, Tueker, Jerome, and Anderson represented the Whites, and Lewis, Lawrence, Mester, Potter, and Settle represented the Blues, the game was tled up at 28-28 after approximately 45 minutes of playing. The Blues had the better of the going all the way through, on passing, floor work, shooting, and team work. Until Lawrence was removed from the Lawrence was removed from Six Weeks' Session Sponsored game the Blues were ahead by University Y.M.C.A. Is

Experimental Class, Requested by Kentucky Association of Colleges and Universities, Is Planned

A new class which the College of Commerce will offer next semester, has been announced by Dean Edward Wiest. This course, which will meet six days a week, is a combina-tion of the regular courses of Economic History of Europe and Economic History of the United States. Prof. W. W. Jennings will conduct the instruction.

The first part of the course, Economic History of Europe, will last through the first nine weeks of the semester. At this time the final exam will be given. If a student wishes to take only the first part of the course he will receive three credits for the work. Students wishing to take the second part of this course, Economic History of the United States, may start at the end of the first nine weeks, and at the end of the second nine weeks will receive three credits. If anyone wishes to take both parts of the course he may do so and will receive six credits for it.

This course, an experiment requested by the Kentucky Association the College of Arts and Sciences, will of Colleges and Universities, will be represent the local chapter of Cwens, held to determine whether teaching or learning a subject is more satisfactory on a daily basis than on a three-day a week basis.

Four other regular courses in Economic History of United States will be given. A comparison of the nineweeks and twelve-weeks systems will be compared after the culmination of the courses.

FAREWELL, OR, AS FRIEND TO FRIEND

To you, members of the graduating class, we dedicate this editorial. our farewell to friends and classmates.

Your work at the University has been completed. For many, perhaps, the thought of leaving will be touched with sadness; to others, the knowledge that a new and broader life lies beyond; it may be gladden-

When the doors of college and of youth shut behind you, and you step be blinded by the light. Everything will be strangely different. Only by cautious groping about can you avoid the pitfalls of a fascinatingly dangerous world; only gradually will you become accustomed to the changed environment.

For you, commencement is truly commencement. At last you are on your own, and whatever transpires in the future will be the result of what you have learned in the past. You have had the advantages afforded by a modern, traditionally famous University, and in the eyes of the world you are qualified now to enter the field of your choice.

Your's is a glorious adventure. You are explorers, about to discover and conquer new lands. Some times the the sky will become cloudy and overcast; the sun will cease to shine, and you will be tempted to give up in despair. But that is life. Gone are the happy, carefree schoolhood days, now only pleasant memories. Gone is youth, for you are now men and women ready to face a serious, hardened world.

For you life holds much in store. Don't let it best you; be brave. To you, our comrades, we can only say good luck, and may God bless you all.

Continuing his remarks the speaker said that a college man was bigger at the time of his graduation than at any other period of things and to grow, being not afraid to contradict themselves as by this contradiction they were showing themselves to be growing and progressing. This, he said, was a great tribute to a man-that he was growing and progressing.

Saying that some persons shy at things as does a "dish-faced mare at a clay root," he pointed out the evil results of such shyness by saying that no good could come of this timidity and the spirit of reaching out was the ideal attitude to take The scope of his remarks was most applicable to his audience-an assembled group of college men.

We heartily agree with the speaker on all of the points he stressed in his talk. Only by growing can any person reach or approach a measure of success in any undertaking. Many persons are prone to believe that to contradict one's self is an unpardonable sin. It was shown by the speaker that to retract a statement or ot change one's mind growth was taking place.

THE LIBRARY

There are more students studying in the library now than there have been all year. It would be easier for many that are there now if they had made it a custom to go to the library to study a little each day.

learn your way around. Why is it that so many people to do their reference work, intensive studying, and finishing notebooks? You can not learn how to use the card index, or find reference books in such a short time.

It takes a little while to get accustomed to the atmosphere within the library. It is often hard to concentrate with people coming in and going out.

Why not try studying at the library oftener next semester, and see if it is not a better plan? You will find it easier to get your work up as it is assigned than to wait until the last minute, and in some cases, not have time to complete it.

He urged the stu- ed with the odds against us that dents to reach for the greater gives us the most satisfaction if we conquer in the end. If a teacher expects us to do "C" or "D" work, think what a pleasant surprise awaits him if we do "A" or "B" work. He will not continue to give the same old grades if the work improves anymore than he will do so if it grows worse.

And speaking of work growing worse, it is a very popular pastime to acquire a reputation for good work and rest on that. Take our word for it, if you attempt to do that a very pleasant surprise awaits you in the end. No teacher will let you pull the wool over his eyes forever, and just when you most want and expect a good grade he is going to wake up and give you what you deserve. The advantage you have if you are accustomed to doing good C. R. Melcher. work is that you have the habit. Once you start, it is easy. The hard part is forming the habit once you have slipped. If you have the habit, hold on to it, for it is worth more than the grades it has gotten you.

College Journalism Is Lauded

for inflicting on professional journ-Philip Simms, I must confess, that, in my opinion, it serves a most use-'ul purpose.

The newspapers of today and tomorrow, beyond question, will draw more and more on the colleges and universities for their writing staffs. And they are going to demand of these cubs a far broader background than ever they did in the past. A wide knowledge of current events will be required along with some familiarity with languages and academic subjects, and association with the college, in the country and in college newspapers certainly tends the great world outside. If they to encourage observation of what is roing on in the world.

But that is not its only value. If college journalism served merely as a stepping stone to newspaper work as a calling, I should not rate it as highly as I do. Whether the stutent plans to follow law, medicine, engineering, or any of the arts or of this he acquires in school, the beter it will be for him.

Probably the best scholar in college during my time, the man who carried off most of the honors, somehow failed to make much of his knowledge after graduation. A classmate who learned about Christmas time that he would not be file to graduate with his fellows, left school in January and by June, when we were getting our degrees, was already assistant city engineer of a large western city, and from that went rapidly on to higher things.

By this I do not for a moment wish to imply that scholarship is a handicap and flunking something or which to strive. Far from it. There was a perfectly good reason why these two college men turned out the way they did.

The first-honor man, throughout his college career, seldom, if ever, lifted his eyes from his books. His studies were his one great passion. He took no interest in sports. He eemed utterly oblivious of what was going on about him. The great world was turning on its axis once every 24 hours, grinding out events, some of which were history-making. Yet so far as arousing his interest was concerned these things might have the individual. been taking place on the moon. Gradto a leg injury, and it is very unlikely that Charlie Gates will return to school. Thus, both milers, the only two-miler, and both half uation depleted the ranks of the Varsity of all dependable distance milers are gone.

And on top of that, two 440-men and several field-event men have departed. To fill their places are only a few men from last year's frosh team and a handful of reserves. Jimmy Miller, who was pretty good as a freshman two years ago, will help some in the 880 and mile, and King, a sopho-more, may solve the trouble in the 880. Outside of these men there is no one to replace the departed

"Red Doug" Parrish, captain-elect, is undecided whether or not he will report this year. If he fails to return to the team, the situation indeed be bad. He runs the 100 and 220 as fast as anyone in the south, and the hurdles even better than he does the sprints. Pritchard, Ayers, and McMillan may help in these events, but every man who can run, or thinks he can, is urged to report February 1, when the first drills are scheduled to begin.
